④	Activities	This project, undertaken in cooperation with the ASEAN Secretariat starting in fiscal 2002, originated with a request made by the ASEAN countries at the ASEAN+3 Labour Ministers Session in 2001. The project's primary purpose is to help ensure healthy labor-management relations in the ASEAN region. It was originally conceived as a three-year project, but ASEAN countries participating in the ASEAN-Japan Cooperation Committee strongly urged the Government of Japan to continue its cooperation, so a second phase of the project was begun in fiscal 2001. For this project, the Government of Japan will hold a session of the Japan-ASEAN Cooperation Committee and has commissioned the ILO Association of Japan to promote capacity building, provide education, and hold regional workshops on designated topics for government, labor, and business leaders from the ASEAN countries. The association will also hold nation-specific follow-up seminars for Cambodia, Laos, Myanmar, and Vietnam.
